Pawlak receives 2008 Paul Anderson Award from Text and Academic Authors Association

Award honors recipient for extraordinary service to TAA in recruiting members

St. Petersburg, FL, June 25, 2008 --- Kim Pawlak, associate executive director for the Text and Academic Authors Association (TAA), received the association's 2008 Paul Anderson Award.

The Award, named after TAA's very first member, Paul Anderson, honors recipients for extraordinary service to the association in recruiting new members. It was presented at the 2008 TAA Conference on Text and Academic Authoring in Las Vegas, June 21.

Pawlak was given the Award for bringing in more than 125 TAA members through a TAA Foundation gift membership campaign.

Pawlak has been with TAA since 1995, when she worked as a writer for The Academic Author and the TAA website. She was hired as editor of The Academic Author and TAA website in 2000. She was hired as associate executive director in 2006.

About the Text and Academic Authors Association (TAA)

The Text and Academic Authors Association (TAA) is the only membership association devoted solely to serving textbook and academic authors. TAA was established in 1987 for those interested in developing and publishing educational materials, including textbooks, articles for academic journals and other academic writing, software, videos, monographs, reference books, and multimedia CD-ROM disks. TAA's mission is to enhance the quality of educational materials and assist text and academic authors in matters involving them, including taxes, copyright, royalties and better appreciation of their work within the academic environment. www.TAAonline.net
