

Kim Pawlak <kim.pawlak@taaonline.net>

Fw: Anthropic Copyright Settlement: Allocation Updates

1 message

To: kim.pawlak@taaonline.net

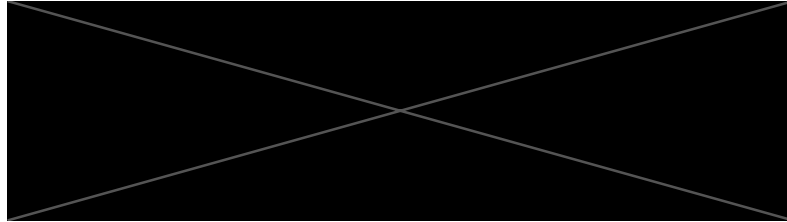

Thu, Oct 1, 2026 at 9:32 AM

Not sure what this means?

----- Original Message -----

On Thursday, 10/01/26 at 16:18 Anthropic
Copyright Settlement Administrator <info@anthropiccopyrightsettlement.com> wrote:

Claim Number: [REDACTED]

PIN: [REDACTED]

We made updates that may affect your claim.

What Changed?

Based on feedback from claimants, we updated how certain works are categorized. In particular, where multiple claimants submitted default claims for the same ownership interest in a work, we changed those works from agreement to disagreement.

In addition, the portal is updated to reflect that some claimants changed their sole ownership claims to default claims, and some claimants withdrew their claims.

What This Means for You

As a result of these updates, some works on your claim may now be categorized differently. We encourage you to review the current allocations for your works.

How to Review and Update Your Allocations

Please use your claim number and PIN above to log into the portal below.

Claim Summary and Allocation Portal

For help making updates, please visit the allocation portal instructions.

If You Already Submitted Updates

If you already updated the allocation for a work, then you do not need to submit those updates again. Any changes you submitted previously through the online portal are recorded, but the portal is not being updated in real time. If you submit multiple updates for the same copyright number, your most recent submission will replace any earlier submissions.

What's Next?

We will continue to work with claimants to help resolve disputes.

For works where all rightsholders are in agreement and where all necessary payment information is provided, we expect to send a first round of payments in November 2026.

If You Have Questions

Please contact us at 1-877-206-2314 or info@AnthropicCopyrightSettlement.com.

Regards,

Settlement Administrator